1.2 Importance of stress management in the workplace
- If stress is not managed effectively, it can get out of control and cause staff health issues.
- Stressed employees are more likely to miss work, both as a way to cope and due to health-related problems.
- Managing stress will curb absenteeism in order to maintain productivity at workplace
- Workers who suffer from stress often display poor judgement in crisis or emergency situations and this can be avoided through managing stress
- Grievances or complaints that lead to staff turnover can be addressed if stress is well-managed.
- Conflict and interpersonal problems can be avoided if stress is managed at the workplace.

- Having stressed and tired employees serving the public may lead to poor service and unhappy customers and this can be corrected through management of stress
- Stressed employees are more likely to cling to the old ways of doing things by resisting change and this can be controlled through proper management of stress.
- Constant stress can cause many problems for a business since it can become an unhealthy environment.
- Too much stress can become a barrier to success and lowers the performance of workers.

1.3 Ways employees can manage stress in the workplace
- Develop self-awareness to recognise the signs of stress and its causes.
- Create a balanced lifestyle and minimise extreme emotions.

- Consolidate gains/Build on change by analysing what went right and what needs to be improved after each win
- Anchor the changes in corporate culture and this must become part of the core of their business.

3.3 Major changes that people and businesses deal with

3.3.1 Unemployment
- It is when employees lose their jobs because they are fired, or they quit their jobs
- Change can lead to unemployment due to retrenchment.
- A business may close down/sold/merge resulting to unemployment.
- Copying with unemployment is traumatic and can lead to depression.

3.3.2 Retrenchment
- Retrenchment is when a business cuts the number of workers to reduce their wages and salary bill.
- A process whereby the employer reviews its business needs to increase profits or limit losses, which leads to reducing its employees.
- Economic changes may result in many people being retrenched from their jobs.

3.3.3 Globalisation
- It is a trend where businesses are able to trade in different countries.
- Businesses must deal with and adapt to changes that globalisation brings.
- Globalisation means that many local businesses struggle to compete with bigger/stronger/experienced markets abroad.

Strategies business can use to deal with globalisation
- Adapt your approach to new operational complexities.
- Businesses should be aware of changes in the related industry
- Keep abreast of new technology/processes and developments that could give your business a competitive edge.
- Investigate overseas markets for their products
- Source overseas manufactures/materials/suppliers etc.
- Build a strategy for connecting with governments.
- Comply with international standards of quality.
- Comply with international trade laws.
- Upgrade the enterprise's information technology (IT) network to enable online purchasing.
- Be creative in making products desirable and unique.

3.3.4 Affirmative action
- Affirmative action is a policy that ensures that qualified people from designated groups have equal opportunities in the workplace.
- The policy aims to ensure that Black South Africans, women and people with disabilities are well represented in businesses.
- Workers can resent affirmative action appointments and people who have been appointed in affirmative action positions.

Strategies business can use to deal with affirmative action
- Inform employees on how affirmative action will be implemented in the business.
- Businesses must have acceptable affirmative action programmes.
- Businesses must indicate in all their job adverts that they are affirmative action employers.
- They should open themselves to new ideas and opportunities instead of sticking to the past.
- Employees need to focus on the job rather than the differences of the people in the team and how they were appointed.

3.5 Ways businesses can deal with/manage change in the workplace
- Acknowledging that change is stressful and empowering employees to cope with stress.
- Transparency in the process of change is important in building trust with employees.
- Management need to ensure that it communicates with employees and keeps all informed of decisions and anticipated changes.
- Do not deviate from the original plan.
- Involve employees in the transformation process.
- The business can manage change easily if employees have interpersonal relationships that are characterised by trust, respect and support.
- Employees should increase their skills levels in order to be more competitive for positions and promotion.
- Acknowledge/Respect differences and focus on achieving the goals/objectives.
